

AUBERGINES

- Aubergines come in a variety of sizes and colours, not just the purple ones we find in the supermarkets. This year we have a wide range of different colours and sizes.
- Aubergines will grow outdoors if in a warm sunny position, but will always produce a better crop if grown in a greenhouse or polytunnel.
- The plants will grow to around 1m tall and produce their crop over a long period of time. The aubergines can be picked at any size, however don't leave them on the plant too long or they will start to lose their glossy shine when over-ripe.
